Nursing leadership

Dr. Barbara Mark, assistant professor and director of the graduate program in nursing administration, will implement the university's Executive Nurse Leadership Program in May. The program, established by a grant from the Commonwealth Fund, is designed to enhance strategic management capabilities of nurse executives with senior management potential. The 1984 program, which will run May 21-August 10, provides a variety of seminars, workshops, field trips, practicum experiences, and small group discussions along with academic work.

Mark will coordinate the program with MCV Hospitals through Myles Lash, executive director, and Patricia Cushnie, director of nursing; with the School of Business through Dr. D. Robley Wood, associate professor of management; and with the Department of Health Administration through Jerry Norville, director, graduate program in health administration.

VCU is one of three universities selected in a nationwide competition to implement the Executive Nurse Leadership Program.

MCV Foundation grant announced

An endowment of $500,000 has been made to the MCV Foundation by the Ethyl Corporation in Richmond. Floyd D. Gottwald, Jr., chairman of Ethyl Corporation, presented a check to Dr. Edmund F. Ackell, VCU's president, during a brief ceremony at Ethyl's headquarters. The check represents the first of five payments in support of the university's Massey Cancer Center. Also present at the ceremony were

Joseph C. Carter, Jr., president of the MCV Foundation, and S. Douglas Fleet, immediate past president of the MCV Foundation.

Ethyl's gift constitutes a permanent endowment fund which will be held, invested, and managed by the MCV Foundation with the annual income benefiting the Massey Cancer Center.

Oliver leads into new year

Dr. George J. Oliver, Jr. (M.D.'47) of Williamsburg has assumed the presidency of the MCV Alumni Association of VCU for 1984.

Officers and Board of Trustees of the alumni association expect a busy year. Discussions between the officers of the association and university officials concerning the alumni facility have progressed to the point that the planning for an alumni center will culminate in 1984.

While the board works with projected plans for a new facility, the staff will try to repeat the 1983 events at chapter, state, regional, and national meetings without exceeding 1984 budget restrictions, says executive director Franklin Stone. All alumni living in the area of a convention city will be invited to attend the functions when they are held in conjunction with professional meetings. Those in attendance can receive updated information on the school and alumni representatives, says Stone, will share the fact that the MCV Alumni Association of VCU is well, active, and proceeding cooperatively within the guidelines outlined in the 1979 agreement with Virginia Commonwealth University.

Officers of the association are working actively with the Office of University Advancement to encourage alumni to support the VCU Annual Fund and thus help the university to assist with high level priorities, basic needs, and program support not funded by the state. Officers assure alumni that the university will honor contributions to the VCU Annual Fund designated to benefit schools or departments located on the MCV Campus.

Alumni are asked to work together in a spirit of genuine loyalty to the university and with interest in promoting the welfare of the institution as it seeks to educate, to research, to preserve, and to restore health.

Reunion weekend on May 11-13 will follow the Dental Homecoming on April 6-8. Many alumni will return for five-year reunions.

Pooled Income Fund established

Alumni, according to MCV Foundation's executive director, David Bagby, have made the difference in the organization's success. The Foundation's progress, he says, has been substantial because of generous gifts and bequests received from alumni. Many alumni may be interested in helping but defer making gifts because they need to retain income-producing assets.

"Our new Pooled Income Fund could be the answer," says Bagby. A donor can make an immediate gift to the Foundation without giving up current income, and will continue to receive a good income on all money or securities transferred to the Pooled Income Fund. Substantial tax benefits are also provided to encourage gifts to the fund.

Basically, the Pooled Income Fund is a trust maintained and controlled by the MCV Foundation. It has been approved by the Internal Revenue Service and the Virginia State Corporation Commission. Donors contribute assets irrevocably to the fund. Each contributor retains income interest for his or her life or for the life of a beneficiary. The gift is commingled and invested with similar gifts made by other donors, and the commingled funds are invested by Capitoline Investment Services with United Virginia Bank serving as the trustee.

All income is divided among the participants. Essentially, in exchange for a gift, units of the fund are allocated. Those units then determine how much of the fund's net income the donor will receive each year. It functions much like an income-oriented mutual fund. In addition, the full present value of the remainder interest in the Pooled Income Fund is immediately deductible for income tax purposes. The amount of remainder interest depends upon the value of the asset transferred to the fund and the donor's age.

For additional information call or write David Bagby, Executive Director, MCV Foundation, Box 234, Richmond, VA 23298-0001, (804) 786-0734.

Celebrating growth

Over 1,000 Richmond employees of A. H. Robins Company took time from work November 1 to express appreciation to E. Claiborne Robins, chairman of the company's Board of Directors, for his leadership over the past 50 years.

Robins, who received a B.S. in pharmacy from MCV in 1933, joined the company later that year. At that time the company had only three employees and annual sales of just $4,800. By blending his pharmaceutical training with the marketing skills he developed during his early years with the company, he guided A. H. Robins step by step to its present position as a diversified multi-national corporation with more than 5,600 employees and sales that will exceed $500 million this year. During the ceremony Robins was given a collection of 14 gold coins from countries in which A. H. Robins facilities are located. Several long-service employees participated in the presentation.

Cancer conference

Gynecologic oncology is the subject of the 18th annual Student Cancer Conference presented by the Massey Cancer Center and made possible by a grant from the American Cancer Society, Virginia Division, Inc.

Topics and speakers include: "Herpes Simplex Virus II in Cervical Cancer, An Update" by Dr. Laure Aurelian, associate professor, Department of Comparative Medicine, School of Medicine, Johns Hopkins University; "Papilloma Virus and Cervical Neoplasia: New Concepts" by Dr. Christopher P. Crumm, assistant professor of pathology and co-director, OB-GYN pathology and cytology, Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons; and "Treatment Options in Cervical Intraepithelial Neoplasia" by Dr. Daniel L. Clark-Pearson, assistant professor of gynecologic oncology, Duke University Medical Center.

Dr. Dean R. Goplerud, university professor of gynecologic oncology, will serve as moderator for the program.

New direction

John Schaeffer has been appointed director of support services at the MCV Hospitals.

Schaeffer has been associated with MCV Hospitals since June, when he began an internship to complete requirements for his master's degree in health care administration.

Schaeffer holds a bachelor's degree in biology from Dartmouth College in New Hampshire and two graduate degrees from Tulane University in New Orleans. The second is a master's degree in business administration.

As director of support services, Schaeffer will oversee various hospital departments including dietary, housekeeping, transportation, and materials management, which includes general stores, linen, and central supply.

Acting medical dean

Dr. Leo J. Dunn, chairman of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology since 1967, has been appointed acting dean of the School of Medicine.

Dunn fills the vacancy created by Dr. Jesse L. Steinfeld's selection as president of the Medical College of Georgia. Dunn will remain as chairman of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology and will continue his clinical practice at MCV Hospitals.

As president of the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Dunn is the ninth person to be appointed to that position during the organization's 52-year history. A member of the American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, Dunn also serves as the president of the AAOG Foundation and is active on several AAOG committees.

Health care and the elderly

Two major grants totaling $668,000 have been awarded the university's Department of Health Administration for the evaluation of experiments being conducted on the role of competition in financing Medicare and Medicaid services.

The experiments involve looking for ways to foster competition for Medicaid and Medicare patients among health care providers, including health plans like health maintenance organizations.

Dr. Louis Rossiter, associate professor of health administration, is a co-investigator of the projects. The grants are part of $6 million awarded by the federal Health Care Financing Administration for evaluation of the experiments.

An alumnus recognized

For his studies of hepatitis, rubella, and measles, culminating in the development of the hepatitis B vaccine, Saul Krugman (M.D. '39) received a 1983 Albert Lasker Public Service Award.

Krugman, professor of pediatrics at New York University, received the award presented by the Albert and Mary Lasker Foundation in November. The Honorable Lowell P. Weicker, Jr., was keynote speaker, and Dr. Michael E. DeBakey served as chairman of the awards jury.

In the early 1950s Krugman and his associates set out to combat infectious diseases in children. He discovered in 1960 that children could be protected against measles through the use of a live attenuated virus vaccine and in 1969, he confirmed the effectiveness of the first vaccine against rubella. Rubella is now virtually unknown in this country and measles is a medical rarity since 95 percent of U.S. children are vaccinated against it.

Krugman's most far reaching achievement, however, involves viral hepatitis. He was able to prove that infectious (type A) hepatitis and the more serious serum (type B) hepatitis were caused by two immunologically distinct viruses. He also discovered that heat-treated serum from a chronic carrier of hepatitis B could bring out protective antibodies in persons susceptible to the disease without actually causing the disease. His discovery provided a basis for the development of various hepatitis B vaccines now licensed for use throughout the world.

Awarding achievement

Dr. William J. Fable, director of surgical cytopathology at MCV Hospitals, has received the George N. Papanicolaou award for his achievements in the areas of pulmonary cytology and needle aspiration biopsy.

Fable was honored with the award, named after the physician who developed the cancer-detecting Pap smear, at the American Society of Cytology's annual meeting in Denver.

Fable has been instrumental in popularizing the use of needle aspiration biopsy to diagnose tumors. The technique allows pathologists to analyze suspect growths without the patient undergoing major surgery or even local anesthesia in some cases.

MCV Hospitals has performed 800 to 1,000 needle aspiration biopsies of lymph nodes, thyroid glands, breasts, and lungs in the past year.

Dental scholarship

The Edmond Theodore Glenn Memorial Scholarship has been perpetuated by an endowment gift to the MCV Foundation, given by Glenn's wife, Lorena Lawrence Glenn. The scholarship will be awarded annually to a junior or senior dental student who, in the opinion of the faculty, shows evidence of future leadership and exemplifies the ethical standards of the dental profession. The 1984 award will be $2,000, in honor of the 50th year of Glenn's graduation from the School of Dentistry on May 29, 1934.

Glenn practiced in Smithfield, North Carolina, five years before returning to his hometown of Boone, North Carolina where he was active in church and civic affairs. The scholarship commemorates his love for the university, 38 years of dedication to the dental profession, and is to help deserving future dentists.

Men About Town

"Virginia Hospitality" is the theme of the 10th annual Men About Town fashion show sponsored by the Medical College of Virginia Hospitals Auxiliary of Virginia Commonwealth University.

The show will be held April 3 at 7 pm in the Miller and Rhoads Tea Room in Richmond. All proceeds will be used to help renovate MCV Hospitals' Hospitality House.

A champagne dinner will be served during the fashion show which features Richmond area men chosen for exemplifying traditional Virginia hospitality. For reservations call Mrs. Donald L. Appich at (804) 741-2666.

STATEMENT

"The MCV Alumni Association of VCU must continue to be a viable part of the MCV Campus. With its planned move to a new site, which will allow expansion of its facilities to better serve the alumni, students, faculty, and the university, I foresee a greater role and involvement of the MCV Alumni Association and its alumni in support of the further development of excellence in our beloved MCV Campus and in our expanding great urban university."

STATEMENT

"In an institution this large and complex the dedication, interest, and especially support of our medical alumni to the medical school is of paramount importance. The organization of the medical school alumni is currently progressing to allow a more direct association between the medical school alumni, the medical students, and the medical school itself. It is to all alumni's benefit that this endeavor is fruitful in terms of moral, continuing communication, and support of research areas."

STATEMENT

"The Medical College of Virginia has undergone a great change since my arrival 29 years ago. I have been on the campus all but four of those years, as a student of two of its schools, as medical resident, and as a faculty member. We alumni can be proud that each of these years has brought a steady growth until we are now one of the largest health science centers in the United States. We can be even more proud that the quality of our efforts has also steadily improved during this time period. Although we perform quite well in terms of teaching, patient care, and research, we have by no means reached our full potential. Our maximum physical growth is probably near an end, and this is good. My major concern is now with continued improvement in quality of teaching and research. I genuinely believe we can become one of the top health science centers in the nation. To achieve this goal of excellence, in these times of reduced government support and decreased emphasis on education and research, requires a strong MCV Alumni Association. Not only will increased alumni support be necessary but a unified and vigorous participatory organization will be needed. A stronger association will also allow us to exert influence on university affairs which our alumni should but do not have at present. We can be proud of our heritage and, if we're willing to expend sufficient effort, we can anticipate a splendid future."

DAVID C. WHITEHEAD, JR.

STATEMENT

"The MCV Campus gave us all a wonderful opportunity. With the combined strengths of those in the fields and on the staff, the university can substantially gain more leadership in the direction of health care in these rapidly changing times. Our unity and increased participation through the alumni association can only further the excellence of patient care."

STATEMENT

"I believe that the alumni association can and should be a powerful force in determining the policies and course which the MCV Campus and the university will follow. It is only through the combined effort which is afforded by the association that we can be sure we will be heard and be considered when decisions are made. A strong and dynamic alumni association will lead to a greater campus."

trators; American College of Health Care Administrators; president, Roanoke Area Hospital Council, 1960 and 1973; delegate, American Hospital Association; Boards of Directors: MCV Alumni Association of VCU, Virginia Regional Medical Program, Virginia League for Nursing, H.S.A. of Southwest Virginia, Virginia Statewide Health Coordinating Council, Virginia Council on Health and Medical Care, and numerous civic organizations; president, MCV Alumni Association School of Health Administration, 1960; preceptor and occasional lecturer, MCV Campus, 1958-present

"I very much appreciate the singular honor of being nominated for the board of our alumni association, but even more appreciate my education at MCV and the continuing prestige it has lent to my career. I will never be able to do for the university what the university has done for me; therefore, I would welcome the opportunity of contributing to its continuing success by serving on the board of its alumni association. If elected, I will support those activities which will enhance the honor and value of our association and school. Although benefits have ensued to VCU and MCV through their merger, I believe the MCV Campus will best be served for some time to come by an autonomous alumni association which, like I, identifies with and will be more knowledgeable and supportive of the needs of the health care division."

Endowment Means Excellence

Excellence is merely a state of mind until put into action through your assets and our resources.

An endowment gift to the MCV Foundation continues to grow in value. Only the interest and dividends from the investment of your endowment are spent for a purpose that you have designated on the MCV Campus. The principal remains untouched to perpetuate ongoing income.

Endowment gifts are often outright contributions of cash, securities, or real estate. Frequently, endowment gifts are deferred as tax-advantaged "Life Income" trusts, annuities, and bequests.

Through an endowment, your gift lives forever, enabling MCV to continue a tradition of excellence in health sciences education, research, and patient care.

'Round the Circuit

By Franklin Stone

Delaware Valley Chapter

During the chapter's October dinner meeting Emily H. Baxter (B.S. nursing '52) was elected president and Cindy Elizabeth Andrew (B.S. medical technology '75) was elected secretary/treasurer. The group attending the event requested the officers to continue holding the meetings each year in the Commissioned Officers Club, U.S. Naval Station, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The reception by Dr. and Mrs. Philip London (M.D. '49) and the alumni present encouraged the executive secretary to discuss the positive status of the association and give an update on the university. Enthusiasm continued long after the delicious meal was consumed.

New York, Northern New Jersey, Connecticut Chapter

Members greeted one another in November at an excellent dinner at L'Escargot Restaurant in New York City. The inclement weather did not dampen the spirit of those present and Dr. Edwin C. Weiss (M.D. '69) agreed to continue as president of the chapter. A number of those present were working in the area on a short term basis. Active alumni need to reactivate the support of alumni permanently living in the Manhattan area.

Medical Division

Physician alumni and their spouses turned out in unprecedented numbers to attend receptions held at The Homestead during the meeting of the Medical Society of Virginia and at the Baltimore Hyatt during the Southern Medical Association meeting. Dr. Charles O. Watlington, professor of endocrinology at the university and 1983 president of the alumni association, greeted those in Virginia. Dr. Thomas W. Nooney, Jr., professor of ophthalmology and 1982 president of the alumni association, welcomed those in Maryland. Dr. M. Pinson Neal, Jr., university professor of radiology, is current president of the Southern Medical Association; he gave additional prestige to the meeting of friends of the university.

Officers of the division for 1984 are: Harry I. Johnson, Jr. (M.D. '53), chairman; David C. Whitehead, Jr. (M.D. '73), chairman-elect; David W. Branch (M.D. '52), secretary-treasurer; and Philip L. Minor (M.D. '47), immediate past chairman. Directors of the division requested that Dr. Whitehead proceed with plans for a 1984 annual meeting in Williamsburg during the November 8-11 meeting of the Medical Society of Virginia.

Dental Division

Ballots mailed in November to dental alumni elected the following to lead the dental division in 1984 and 1985: J. Wilson Ames, Jr. (D.D.S. '62), chairman; Leigh C. Budwell (D.D.S. '50), vice-chairman; and Michael O. McMunn (D.D.S. '77), secretary-treasurer. Dental homecoming/dental division annual meeting, a reception for friends of the university, and reunion class parties for classes whose years end in 4 and 9 are all scheduled for April 6-8 in Richmond.

Pharmacy Division

Under the recent leadership of chairman Linwood S. Leavitt (B.S. pharmacy '41), the pharmacy division is well-organized, has defined its aims, and is in pursuit of its goals within budgetary constraints. L. Preston Hale (B.S. pharmacy '72), chairman; John A. Brown, (B.S. pharmacy '78), vice-chairman; and Robert L. Burner (B.S. pharmacy '66), secretary-treasurer, are officers for 1984 and 1985. At a meeting of divisional directors it was decided to participate in the February R. R. Rooke Lecture, to alter the previous alumni orientation of incoming pharmacy students, and to continue alumni events at the VPhA, NARD, ASHP, and APhA. The 1984 annual meeting of the division will be held May 11 at the Jefferson-Lakeside Club in Richmond, in conjunction with the reunion class party dinners for those classes whose years end in 4 and 9. At this gala social-business event, amendments to the rules and procedures will be voted upon and the Pharmacy Alumnus of the Year Award will be presented.

Nursing Division

Officers of the division for 1984 are the following: Dorothy S. Crowder (B.S. nursing '74, M.S. nursing '77), president; Mary O. Lindamood, (B.S. nursing '67, M.S. nursing '75), president-elect; Katherine C. Bobbitt, (B.S. nursing '56), vice-president; Marlene S. Howlett (B.S. nursing '69, M.S. nursing '76), secretary; and Edna Morgan (B.S. nursing '54), treasurer. The division seeks nominees for officers and directors for 1985 as well as nominees for the Outstanding Nursing Alumnus for 1984. Suggestions for the 1985 lecturer and nursing trustees for the board are also being sought. Current division directors have scheduled regular meetings to plan and direct the five-year class reunion group reception and dinner on May 11 at the Richmond Hyatt; the celebration with students at Recognition Night; the greeting of incoming students in August; and the mixers at the American Nurses Association (June 22-28) and the Virginia Nurses Association (September 26-29).

Allied Health Professions Division

The 1984 directors are combining the divisional annual meeting with the celebration of the 15th year anniversary of the School of Allied Health Professions. The topic on October 13 will be "Technology and Its Impact on The Allied Health Professional." The selection of a keynote speaker is in process, a luncheon menu is being considered, and the afternoon educational programs located throughout the campus will offer CEUs. Chairman John A. Booth (M.S. physical therapy '80), urges members to make plans now to attend. On February 21 the vice-chairman, Mary Beth Pappas (A.S. radiologic technology '77), and secretary/treasurer Barbara J. McCoy (B.S. medical technology '72) will assist the chairman in entertaining all department seniors at a wine and cheese party in the Alumni House.

Basic Sciences Division

In 1984 and 1985 Hermes A. Kontos (Ph.D. '67) and Alfred J. Szumski (B.S. physical therapy '51, M.S. '56, Ph.D. physiology '64) will serve as chairman and secretary of the division. An annual meeting and mixer for current students is being planned. The division urges its members to attend alumni receptions at the four national meetings; listings are included in the calendar on the back cover.

Supporting your alma mater

In the agreement which became effective September 30, 1979, the Board of Trustees of the MCV Alumni Association of VCU agreed to discontinue dues. In lieu of dues as known in the past, you are asked to make a tax deductible contribution to the VCU Annual Fund.

Your contribution may be for any amount you choose. It may be unrestricted for general use or restricted to the MCV Campus, a particular school, or a current operating fund. Your entire gift will be used for the purpose designated. The financial support of those who studied at the university aids in a significant way to help maintain a level of excellence at your alma mater.

Inquiries about other forms of voluntary support should be directed to the University Advancement Office, Virginia Commonwealth University, 828 West Franklin Street, Richmond, VA 23284, or call (804) 257-1227.

Send your check to: VCU Annual Fund
